PA NEW OBSERVES

Dear Pa New:
The Ladybug article in your column last week brought me ten requests to give a description of it. The ladybug is a little spotted insect that we find in our gardens in the summer. Its little body carries little black dots and under its seemingly hard wings appear little gauzy wings which are black. The ladybug on the aphids that are so plentiful on the rose-bushes and shrubs. The ladybug is one of our most useful insects and should never be killed. Many times I have heard children repeat this verse: Ladybug, ladybug, fly away home, your house is on fire and your children alone.

OWEN PENFIELD FOX

There are a lot of motorists who have been in the habit of dashing around to the left of street cars taking on or letting off passengers, who are facing the possibility of being summoned before the mayor, as a result of the recent campaign of the police. Forty or fifty motorists will be summoned. Police rode the street cars for a week or more and noted the autos that were violating this law.

Up at the corner of Albert and Sheridan avenue there is a little white sign, which keeps members of scout troop V-37 true to their obligations. Many of the boys residing in that district have had the habit of hitching their sleds onto the rear of automobiles and "hooking" a ride. It is a dangerous practice and police will be watching for it.

Father Of Rheta Wynekoop To Give Testimony At Trial

By DOROTHY DUCAS

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—It will be a clash between mother love and father love today, when the murder trial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, iron-willed physician charged with killing her daughter-in-law, resumes after a two-day recess.

The mother, Dr. Alice, who almost died with a sudden heart attack over the week-end, but insists on standing trial at once anyhow, will face the father, Rheta H. Gardner, whose daughter, Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, lies in an Indianapolis cemetery, unavenged.

Across a courtroom these two will wage their embittered fights, the mother for a life the state is seeking for the punishment of one he believes responsible for his daughter's death.

PEIPING, Jan. 15.—Formal announcement that Henry Pu-Yi will be proclaimed emperor of Manchukuo on March 1 was made by the Japanese legation here today. The legation said Japan wishes the populace of Manchukuo to stabilize their political situation and agree to Pu-Yi's accession to the so-called Manchukuo throne.

There is no intention, it was said, of restoring the Ching dynasty in China proper.

Desire Development

The Japanese announcement, however, was construed in some quarters as the beginning of Japan's encroachment in North China.

Moez Changes Attitude
When He Learns Girl
Dies From Wounds

JOHN MOEZ

Recovering from his self-inflicted wound, John Moez, accused slayer of Rose Balogh, will not be taken from the New Castle hospital to the county jail until he is entirely recovered.

One of the first things to be done when he is recovered sufficiently will be to take him before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing for a preliminary hearing on the charge of murder.

Moez is now in the custody of Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard, although he is confined in the hospital. In order to avoid any possible escape, the sheriff placed H. J. Sines, Howard McClure and Frank Conner on as guards in shifts of eight hours each. They will serve until Moez can be taken to the county jail.

Knows Girl Is Dead

Moez now knows that the girl he wanted to marry is dead. When he was first taken to the hospital he assumed that she had only been wounded. At that time he talked jokingly of her pictures in the paper and asked that it "be made nice". Since that time he has been informed that the girl is dead and his bravado seems to have disappeared and he is in entirely different mood.

Rose Balogh, the girl he insisted must marry him, will be laid away this afternoon. Out cut in the very flower of life, she was the victim of a love-crazed youth who made good his threat that she would never marry anybody else if she didn't marry him.

As for Moez himself, he can look forward to a trial in March term of court on a charge of first degree murder.

Still, he is entirely recovered.

DAVID LAMAR ENTIRELY UNWEPT IN DEATH

Relatives Fail To Claim Body Of David Lamar

Attorney For Once Famous "Wolf Of Wall Street" Is Looking After Body

LAMAR DIED IN NEAR POVERTY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Unwept and unclaimed, the body of David Lamar, whose financial operations won him the appellation "the wolf" of Wall St., today lay unclaimed at the morgue while an attorney sought relatives and friends to arrange funeral services for the one-time spectacular speculator.

Lamar died of heart disease in a Midtown hotel room, where for the past several months he had been living in obscurity and near poverty. Neither relative nor friend appeared to claim the body of the man through whose fingers once trickled millions from public stock market play.

Relatives Unresponsive

The only person interesting himself in the death of Armin Kohn, an attorney, Kohn said he had tried to communicate with Dorothy Lamar, a daughter of "the wolf" now living in Pittsfield, Mass., and also with Lamar's second wife, the former Edith Beck, but had received no word from either of them.

Kohn said he had arranged to pay for burial of the broken speculator if it is found Lamar died without sufficient funds. Police who began a check of the speculator's possessions said they found $138 in cash. A suit of clothes and a few small pieces of personal jewelry in the $17.50 a week hotel room where he died. There was no record, they said, of any other personal property.

HOOKING RIDES AGAIN

Police had their worries again last night and it would be a good idea for parents whose children go sled riding to visit Albert and Sheridan avenues. Some of them are attaching their sleds to automobiles challenging injury.

CHICKEN THIEVES BLAMED AS FIRE DESTROYS BARN

snow had been tramped down, the proviers evidently waiting for the family to retire.

It was about 20 minutes after the last of the family had retired that the fire was discovered, and it is believed that the marauders stood nearby watching until the lights in the home were turned out.

Seventh ward firemen went to the scene of the blaze when the home and other buildings were found in danger of taking fire, the house standing quite near to the blazing barn. They succeeded in preventing the home from catching fire, No. 5 department was sent to the seventh ward station, and No. 1 company went from Central Station to No. 5 during the fire.

There are two barns on the Swisher farm, the other being some distance away and is used to house a herd of cattle.

Loss Is Severe One
In addition to the loss of the barn and other outbuildings, a quantity of hay and grain, together with some farm machinery was also lost.

The loss to Mr. Swisher is a severe one, as he lost twelve fine hogs several months ago, just as they were ready for marketing.

The Swisher farm is located at the top of the Mt. Jackson road, a short distance beyond Mahoningtown, and the blaze could be seen for miles, attracting many motorists to the scene despite the late hour.

The announcement concludes with the observation that no reaction to the enthronement is anticipated here or elsewhere south of the Great Wall in view of the emphasis laid in the absence of any intention to restore the Ching dynasty.

The statement asserts that Japan wishes to dispel the notion that Manchukuo is a "Japanese Colony."

The victim of the hit and run auto was placed in Coen's automobile and hurried to the New Castle hospital. He sustained a bad laceration of an eye and scalp.

Mr. Francis retired from mill work some time ago and has not been in the best of health. However, his attending physician holds out hope for his recovery.

tion in the case against the 62-year-old woman doctor, will be the first witness for the state. These, worn with grief, and as determined as the mother of the phillandering Earle Wynekoop herself, Gardner said he would stay in Chicago throughout the trial. Of the case he had but this to say: "I feel they are trying the right person."

An aura of strangeness hung over the stone house where his beloved daughter lived with her neurotic husband, her eccentric mother-in-law and Enid Hennessy, a spinster school teacher who also will be called as a state's witness. Gardner said he never was happy about his daughter's life there.

To Tell Her Story

He wants to tell the story of Rheta's meeting with Earle, her marriage, and the way he learned of her death, painting a picture of his daughter to counteract that etched by Earle, who said during the investigation of the killing that Rheta was his mental and social inferior.

The testimony of Gardner will be one of the severest strains Dr. Wynekoop will undergo at the courtroom culmination of the weeks of investigation and imprisonment.

For, whichever way it turns out, death must win. That is established now as it has not been since the crime was discovered. Dr. Wynekoop, after the ordeal of sitting in court while the jury was selected last week, suffered a heart attack in her cell at the prison and is in a very weakened condition. She may die at any time; arteriosclerosis and angina pectoris is her own diagnosis.

"I'm going to get this over with; please don't try to stop me," she told Dr. Francis MacNamara, prison physician. "I'm an innocent woman. I've got an intelligent jury. I've looked them over myself. They will give me a fair trial. I'm going to disregard you and every other doctor who tries to delay the trial."

DR. WYNEKOOP IS SICK WOMAN

trip of any kind was ever contemplated by the red-haired Rheta, who lived with her mother-in-law although estranged from her husband, Earle, said Charles S. Dougherty, the prosecutor.

Three months after the insurance was taken out Rheta was dead, and Dr. Wynekoop was the beneficiary of $10,000 worth of insurance with a double indemnity clause for accidental death, the premiums were paid although those on Dr. Wynekoop's own life and her son's were in default at the time.

Purchased Cartridges

And the day the insurance policy was delivered Earle Wynekoop, Rheta's husband purchased cartridges for his gun and delivered them to his mother.

These are the main points of the state's case against the woman doctor, as outlined by the prosecutor with calm earnestness. His charges culminated in a half-strangled "Oh!" from the defendant when Earle, her baby son, was mentioned.

The prosecution did not demand the death penalty, but made no mention of the kind of punishment expected.

The opening speech described a cold-blooded, carefully-planned crime, the details of which held a courtroom spellbound for almost an hour.

No time was spent going into the close relation between Earle and his mother, her dramatics indulged in. Just a recital of how a young woman, unsuspecting, walked into a trap, every spring of which had been greased and tested, for her undoing.

Dr. Wynekoop's friend, Julia McCarthy, an insurance saleswoman, will testify as to the woman physician's anxiety to get the policy signed quickly. It was said.

Americanism: Despising the "keep woman" using the courts to help women who sell themselves for a year to get a pension called alimony.

FAITH

We wonder why our high schools, where our children are taught the principles of taking the best care of their health along with their education, have for sale and sell candies to the children and take the money which was given them to be used for a wholesome lunch.

We were all children once and even though we promised to do different, the temptation some times is too great. We as parents think this temptation should not be put before the children.

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—Governor Gifford Pinchot today began the last year of his second term as governor of Pennsylvania still recuperating from an attack of shingles which has kept him bedfast in a New York hospital since December 13.

The commonwealth's next chief executive will be sworn in on the third Tuesday of January next year, which by the calendar is the 15th of the month.

The beginning of the last year of Governor Pinchot's term finds the political atmosphere well clouded with gubernatorial talk, but nothing of a definite nature. Governor Pinchot is considered certain to contest the United States Senate seat now held by David A. Reed.

AN ALERT INDUSTRY

UTOMOBILE shows, new 1934 models and newspaper advertisements heralding both are focusing public attention on Detroit again. This is the motor industry's own month.

Production of automobiles and motor trucks was up 43 per cent last year but still far below that of the peak years when there was a passenger car for every four-and-one-half persons and manufacturers scoffed at the idea of a saturation point.

The motor industry remains our most important industry. It is the largest purchaser of gasoline, rubber, alloy steel and malleable iron, mohair, upholstery leather, lubricating oil, plate glass, nickel and lead. It used 2,621,000 railroad cars to carry its freight last year, and furnished a market for 185,000,000 pounds of cotton fabric which went into tire manufacture. With the motor industry consuming 85 per cent of all gasoline and 80 per cent of all rubber and 59 per cent of all lubricating oils there would be no rubber and petroleum industries of consequence if there were no motor industry.

Partial recovery in the automobile and truck industry last year probably was second only to the NRA, CCC and CWA in creating new jobs. If it were possible to bring production up to capacity the back of the depression would be broken, so far-reaching are the benefits of this industry.

WHEN THE PUBLIC TAKES TO THE AIR

Who hasn't envisioned the time when airplanes will be about as numerous as autos are today? Practically everybody has had that "dream." When aviation reached the stage of practicability there arose the thought that some day traffic congestion might be as great in the high altitudes as it is in city streets and on the highways. Comic strip artists seized the idea and began depicting air traffic officers stationed at various points far above the earth's surface. Just fun for the youngsters, you know.

Dreams have a remarkable habit of becoming realities. That is, of course, providing they are not too deep in the realm of fantasy and impossibility. But it is difficult today to determine where the demarcation between the impossible and the possible lies. All great developments have their birth in day-dreaming.

The dream of the public taking to the air en masse is rapidly passing from unreality to reality and it may be completely promulgated much sooner than even the most optimistic expected. At the present time government aviation officials are devoting considerable effort to the development of a low-priced airplane and the addition of about two thousand landing fields to the present system. Leaders of the aviation industry recently held a conference and discussed production of a plane to sell at about $700, and capable of a speed of 25 miles an hour. To get the program under way, that is the primary part, a public works fund allotment of about $500,000 is proposed. So the old dream may come true within a very short time. But knowing the public propensity for speed who do not imagine it will be satisfied with the 25-mile rate after the novelty wears off. Once the plan is started, who can tell where it will end? And incidentally, we would like to know just out of curiosity whether the designers of the air fliers will make arrangements to take care of the petting parties which are the usual accompaniment of speed. But maybe that is looking a little too far into the future.

HONEST TAX RETURNS

Before any federal income tax law was ever enacted, predictions were made that innumerable tax dodgers would illegally evade such a law. Many returns would be falsified, it was said, and the country would not get anything like the revenue it expected.

Nevertheless, in good times the income tax law has been a big revenue producer. It is doubtful if many people of large property, except criminals, have deliberately falsified their returns. Men of business standing could not afford to do so. The penalties for such evasion are too heavy. Injury to business reputation would also be serious.

The tax laws permit people to legally avoid such taxation, by investing their money in tax exempt bonds. They have the right to do so, for if it has been considered good public policy to issue such bonds, the citizens must have a moral right to buy them. The issue of such bonds is probably undesirable as a permanent policy, and this method of escaping taxes may not be tolerated very long.

Probably many persons liable for small income taxes have failed to make returns. It takes a very big and closely woven net to catch all the little fish. Back in 1926, for instance, a good average year, only 4,138,000 persons made tax returns. Probably many more than that had at least a small taxable income.

Some people think that cheating Uncle Sam is all right, and consider it a smart act. The number who try to slip goods through the custom houses without paying duties is an illustration. But their neighbors do not see it in the same light. Uncle Sam has ways of locating these cheats that they do not realize.

THEY'RE SEEING THINGS IN JAPAN

That Japanese vice admiral who reputedly accused Colonel Lindbergh of acting as a spy in his leisurely flight over Japanese territory in the summer of 1931, and further charges that America is pursuing a policy of hostility "in encircling Japan by every possible means," gives rise to the suspicion that Japan, too, has its bootleg potatoes. Or was it a Russian rarebit that caused him to have such a frightful nightmare?

Education is a grand thing. It enables people to think up ways to avoid paying the educators.

Famous last words: "That dress isn't right for you. It might look all right on a younger woman."

If the marathon idea was a product of ancient Greek culture, that culture has been highly overrated.

Don't worry. History shows that all great plans prosper better after they are condemned by the experts.

Our idea of a real man: One who has climbed to success without forgetting those who helped to steady the ladder.

Maybe it's a coincidence, but the great American authors that Europe alone has the intelligence to appreciate are always the ones that knock America.

EVERYTHING HAS A PATTERN

I saw a strange book of photographs made by a man named Edward Weston, in Carmel.

Some of them were photographs of men, but most of them were pictures of supposed inanimate objects. . . . And at first it seemed a silly thing for a grown man to be going around taking pictures of stumps of trees. Of rocks on the seashore. Of clumps of kelp. Of egg plants. Of green peppers. Of bunches of celery, sliced down the middle. . . . Why take photographs of twisted bits of wood, of pebbles and shells when you might photograph a mother with a child or a great sweep of landscapes?

But when I looked more closely I saw a pattern. . . . In nearly every common object I saw what the artist behind the camera meant me to see. . . . Curves and balance and light and shadow in every one. . . . The wind had twisted the cypress limb into a spiral of beauty. The kelp lay gracefully on the glistening gray sand. No artist of genius ever made lovelier lines than the knife at the heart of the celery branch had laid bare for any one to see. . . . I saw that pattern I might otherwise have missed in passing by with my eyes and my mind on other things.

And the artist with the camera told me that these are not the only patterns either. . . . He reminded me that everything in life has its pattern, that every life has its definite pattern. Of dreams. Of action. Of desire. Of conduct. Of hope. Of accomplishment. . . . He told me that I have a pattern which at times I follow and at other times deny. He told me that you, too, have a pattern in your own life. And when you follow it you are serene and content. And when you break away from it your happiness falls in ruins; you wander listless and forlorn, like a lost child that seeks its mother and does not know where to find her. . . . You have gotten away from your own pattern, which exists whether you know it or not. It is there, hidden, but far more beautiful than any twisted twig or waveborn bit of kelp. . . . And if I had the lamp of Aladdin in my hands with but one wish allowed to me, I hope I'd be wise enough to say: "May I know the true pattern of my life and keep to that pattern till the end of my days, till the last breath I draw."

SOME CALL IT SNOBBERY

Often you wonder how some of those in your clubs and lodges ever were permitted to become members. You think of them as inferior to the class standard of your organization.

Your conclusions are reached largely as the result of your personal desire to associate with those whom you consider higher in the ladder of fame and finance than you have been able to go. You'd like an opportunity to cultivate such persons.

The members to whom you object do not meet your demands and you think they have no place in your own strata.

What was your object when you affiliated with these organizations in which you hold membership?

Trying to add to your acquaintances friends and prestige?

Then your motives were entirely selfish.

If you did not join to add something of helplessness to the causes they represent, you certainly did not have the right motive.

If you want office for the honor involved, not realizing that office is for service, you are off on the wrong foot.

Instead of criticizing the membership, if you would get better acquainted in service, you might find some unexpected jewels among your associates.

JANET'S CANARY

A little captive bird is he,
Who sings to Janet cheerily,
A silver-throated yellow thing
That never once has tried his wing
Or nestled 'neath the leaves of spring.

Yet he has had a tender love
His wild companions know not of.
Janet to him has opened wide
Her heart and sheltered him inside.
No want of his has she denied.

This blithe wee minstrel of delight
Has never felt the winds of night.
Suffered from snow or driving rain.
Battled with larger birds in vain
A precious bit of food to gain.

Sweet singing bird, love shelters me
And holds me prisoner as thee.
To all my fetters reconciled,
I gladly barter freedom wild
To be so cherished by a child.

Preparing for a Better Fair
Chicago Not United on Insull
Midwest Opinions Not Like Gotham'sBy LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Chicago is suffering an interim of quiet—between sessions of the world's fair. A Century of Progress man has just informed me that those who missed the fair last year and desire to come this year will see a better fair—more foreign participation.

Hotel accommodations again are plentiful, following last summer's congestion.

But, strange to say, expensive hotel restaurants are still more expensive, and are more crowded. Chicago takes its liquor drinking seriously—or, rather, boisterously.

INSULL
Chicago is not united on bringing Insull back.

"There is another side," one man told me last night. "Insull was unfortunate. He put all his faith into his enterprises (as well as other people's money)."

"He believed he was building an institution in which the sort of world in which we lived then would be proud."

"But that sort of world collapsed (of its own rottenness)."

"Many other men besides Insull went down. If Insull had been given a year or more, if the depression had held off—"

"One wonders?"

"Then, when the crash came, why was this old man pursued, indicted?"

"Wouldn't the sensible thing to do have been this: Put him in as receiver to work out the destinies of these companies?"

"He had enough pride to work them out, if that were possible."

"As it is, there have been receiverships and legal tangles that have eaten up what little remained."

A POINT OF VIEW
Chicago's point of view is insular, more insular than that of New York.

New York believes "something" must be done quickly to save the world.

A veteran newspaper man of Chicago, who has been a Mississippi river pilot as well as a correspondent with Mexican revolutionists, is of the opinion that it is no use saying anything.

"This present recovery will collapse anyway," he says. "Revolutions must take their course."

"As for dictatorship—I have no fear. I have seen many. Dictatorships, soon or late, end in revolutions."

"But I do have a fear over money. I have been caught in Latin America with several kinds of money—pocketful, and none of it worth the ferrying costs across a river. Once I would have exchanged a thousand pesos for one silver dime to get across a river, into safety. Don't go fooling with the money—or people will begin burying the real thing, if they're wise."

INDIANA
On my way to Chic go I stopped off at Indianapolis, metropolis of Indiana.

It may have been forgotten that the first of the American dictators, Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, holds sway there.

From the few Hoosiers with whom I talked I gathered that the dictatorship in their state isn't as popular as it was. They seem to believe that his chief aim has been an attempt at cutting off political opposition.

And Indians are learning that only through political opposition can there be a balance and a check—and, what is more, a preservation of what few liberties remain to the average man in this complex world. It is true, on the other hand, that in many instances, because of antiquity and decrepit statutes, men must in periods of stress assume a dictatorial power to gain instant action for a suffering people. But, at the same time, the people would like to have it understood that such portions of antique statutes which pertain to liberties and rights are NOT sections of the law of the land which can be cast away with impunity.

CUTS RED TAPE
Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes has hit on a red-tape-cutting method that downright infuriates bureaucratic officialdom.

The truck is perfectly simple. A child might have thought of it. If anything, it is all the more irritating in that it works so naturally that it is hard to find much fault with it; yet it raps professional sensibilities almost unendurably.

It would be bad enough if Ickes confined it to his own department, but he extends it to others—for, under the New Deal there is considerable overlapping.

Illustratively, army officers are in charge of many tasks over which the interior secretary has general jurisdiction.

Desiring information concerning some one of these activities, the ordinary citizen would be forced to communicate in writing with Secretary of War George Dern.

Because a little girl of a by-gone century loved fires a new landmark has been erected in San Francisco in her honor in the form of the "Coco Memorial Tower" atop Telegraph Hill.

School Costs Cut Less Per Capita In New Castle Than In Average City

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent,
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15.—Per capita expenditures for operating the public school system were cut less in New Castle last year than in the average city surveyed by the United States office of education.

The office of education has just completed a study of 299 typical cities in the country as a whole one of these being New Castle. The office reports that per student expenditures in 1933 declined 22 per cent in the 299 cities as a group but only 13.9 per cent in New Castle.

The office reported the per student expenditures in New Castle as $76.19 in 1933. Thirty of the 80 cities between 30,000 and 99,000 population included in the survey had greater per student costs. The 80 as a group had per student expenditures of $80.82.

New Castle ranked thirty-fourth of the 80 in the percentage cut in the per student cost last year, the percentage slash being greater in 33 cities of this class than in New Castle.

AROUND CITY HALL

City police have a task on their hands but hope to apprehend a hit and run autoist who struck David Francis of Hillcrest avenue in East Washington street early Sunday morning. Francis is in a critical condition. The autoist did not stop to aid his victim. Only a few nights ago George Crocker was killed by a hit-and-run autoist on the Pulaski road and State Highway patrol are seeking the driver.

It has been some time since a chief of police personally led a raiding squad but Saturday night John Haven took charge of officers and a squad of persons who are alleged to have been gambling with cards faced His Honor the Mayor and paid fines.

The local police station is on the State Police Teletype printer system and every serious crime is reported to local police. A copy of the report is given to the state police who are located in the Colonial hotel.

It is probable that the private offices for the councilmen and city engineer at city hall which are under

Peter Hilliers, a patrolman of the city department can boast of a record that it is not believed is equalled here or in many other cities of the country. He has worked approximately 23 years as a policeman and has not lost one day on account of illness.

Paved hills in the city were very slippery late Saturday night and were placed on them. One motorist is reported to have skidded at Leasure and Highland avenue across Leasure avenue and into a yard, on Sunday. There were reports of numerous minor skidding mishaps.

There is a photographing apparatus for blueprints at the city engineer's office and since the CWA projects were started here it has been used considerably. Almost every day a number of blueprints are photographed. The operator is Neil Williams.

A little dog, of "Terrier design," wandered into Councilman Butler's office Saturday. He was a playful little fellow and soon made friends with the city hall folk. He was fed and watered. No doubt someone has lost a likable pet.

Alcoholism Is Cause Of Death

Young Colored Man Dies On Way To Hospital Early Sunday Morning

Acute alcoholism claimed the life of Martin Hull, a young colored man of this city early Sunday morning according to Coroner Orville Potter. The young man died while being taken from the police station to the New Castle hospital.

Hull who lived at 812 Harrison street, was found on the third floor hallway of a building at 199 1-2 West Washington street by Patrolman U. G. Harper. He was sent to the police station then placed in a car and started for the hospital.

It is said that Hull was carried into the building by some white men. They worked with the young man for a time and when they learned an officer had been sent for, they left, it is said.

Luckies

Reach you fully packed

THE TOBACCO

DOES NOT SPILL OUT

Good tobaccos... real good tobaccos... that's the reason for Lucky Strike's fine, smooth quality. We use only the center leaves of the finest Turkish and domestic tobacco plants. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed. Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves—because these are the mildest leaves—fully ripe for perfect smoking. Only these choice tobaccos are used to make Luckies—so round, so firm, so fully packed—and no loose ends to spill out. That's why Luckies are always mild and smooth. That's why always "Luckies please". And don't forget—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.

On Court House Hill

Thomas Cooper of Scott township, breeder of fine horses, was at the court house Saturday to get a dog license, but he didn't drive up with old "dobbin." No, he came to town just like other farmers in the more approved, "gas buggy." Mr. Cooper's hobby is heavy draft horses, the kind that pull big loads and look as though they were meant to wear.

There is no breeder in this end of the state who raises bigger or better horses. And the horse is coming into its own again, according to Mr. Cooper. Automobiles may be all right on the road, but when it comes to doing farm work, there is nothing like a good horse. It may surprise many to know that there is right now a scarcity of farm horses. The business of raising colts has been neglected on the farms, and the farmer who wants to buy a good team don't know where to look. Prices have also been going up. It's the old story of supply and demand, and the demand now far exceeds the supply. That's why the farmers are getting better prices.

Constable Robert McClenahan and Justice of the Peace Zedaker of New Bedford scattered a little sunshine about the different offices of the court house Saturday. They're the "strong arm" of the law in that neck-o-the-woods. It used to be that the poultry loving bipeds from Ohio, came across into the New Bedford district whenever they felt the urge for a chicken dinner, but it isn't that way any longer. Farmers led by Constable McClenahan, formed vigilance committees about a year ago, and they made it so hot for the Ohio gourmands that there hasn't been a chicken stolen in the neighborhood for many months. McClenahan is also a terror to reckless drivers out his way. Since Prohibition repeal he's more vigilant than ever. Just let a drunk drive through New Bedford and in no time McClenahan gets his scent, and generally gets his man.

J. N. Lavery has filed a writ in attachment at the prothonotary's office against A. M. Cummings, in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money due the defendant from A. F. Hazen and summon him as garnishee.

Renato Peluso has filed a writ of attachment at the prothonotary's office against Silvia and Harry Lambiasi, in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money that may be due the defendants from the Penn Mutual Fire Insurance Company of West Chester, Pa., and the Superior Fire Insurance Company of Newark, N. J.

Another week of common pleas court was opened this morning with a new jury, those attending last week having been discharged. Cases to be tried are those embracing civil actions for bills or damages. By the end of this week it is expected that the list will be pretty well cleaned up. Judges Hildebrand and Chambers have been making such good progress in the trial of common pleas cases, that it was found necessary to hold a session of court, scheduled to begin on February 19. There will be but one session in February, beginning on the 12th, at which it will be necessary to use jurors.

Attorney Edwin K. Logan gets more wind than he can blow in climbing up the steps leading to the court house. Saturday he came up into the court room puffing like a steam engine. "When I get to be judge," he announced, "this court is going to be on the level."

Members of the Lawrence County Agricultural Association waited on the county commissioners Saturday with a request for an appropriation for the ensuing year. After some discussion the commissioners appropriated $1900. This is the same amount as was contributed last year. Formerly the association received $2500, but this was cut down under the general retrenchment program due to the depression. The money goes for rent, clerk hire, postage, tests, and other work of the agricultural department. The salary of the farm agent, H. R. McCullough, is paid through the state department.

Office of County Treasurer, William O. Pitts, was thronged today in the eleventh hour rush to take out dog licenses. The time limit within which licenses are supposed to be secured expires on January 15.

WOLVES INSTALL OFFICERS TUESDAY

Officers will be installed when the Wolves club holds its first meeting of the year, Tuesday night, in the Castleton Hotel. The session will commence with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

Biddle Threatens To Resign Post As CWA Administrator

Will Not Discharge David W. Charles Former Merion, Pa., Banker
(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—Eric H. Biddle, Civil Works Administrator, today offered to resign his post rather than discharge David W. Charles of Merion, whom he appointed assistant comptroller of the CWA "with a full knowledge" that Charles was facing charges of using bank funds for personal speculation.
Charles last Friday was given a suspended three-year sentence in Montgomery county courts. He was formerly assistant treasurer of the Merion Title and Trust Company.
"As executive director of the State Emergency Relief board and later as State Civil Works administrator I have never deviated from the policy of attempting to place the best person available in every position," Biddle said.
"This case is no exception to that rule."
Biddle said he made a personal investigation of the charges on which Charles was convicted and found they were "based on the fine spun technical question as to whether certain acts or commissions on his part as a junior bank official indirectly might have caused the bank a loss."
Hopkins Advised
"I would employ this man in a position of high responsibility in my own business," Biddle said.
"I will not make a burnt offering of him and of the future security of himself, his wife and his two children to preserve appearance where there is no wrong. I have advised Harry L. Hopkins (federal CWA administrator) today of the later developments in this case and have stated to him that in his opinion my continuance in office under the circumstances will prove the slightest embarrassment to him or the federal CWA."
Biddle further said he considered "that a great wrong has been done this man." He said:
"I firmly believe in his conviction by the jury to have been a grave miscarriage of justice."

BRUNER SPEAKER AT ROTARY TODAY
Head Of George Junior Republic Delivers Luncheon Talk Today
Speaking on the subject, "Builders and Destroyers," Earl D. Bruner, for 22 years the superintendent of the George Junior Republic at Grove City, today recounted for New Castle Rotarians his more interesting experiences and the responsibilities of citizenship with their own government.
The George Junior Republic is constituted of girl and boy "citizens" who have been sent there as a result of some deprivation which they have done, and leave, once fully corrected, to accept their responsibilities of citizenship with their own government.
Mr. Bruner chose to speak today of the "bad boy," the destroyer of property, and the "real bad boy," the destroyer of ideals and not of property.
President Ralph Bolkinger today appointed Rotarians Walter Brahman, J. F. Rantz and DeLace Cole to serve as Rotary's committee in connection with the President's birthday ball of January 30. Fred L. Rantz urged the club's full support of the dance, a benefit for the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?
Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief?
Why cutting does not remove the cause?
Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?
That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabbily, the parts almost dead?
Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?
HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts.
Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbroken record of success. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation? Ecker's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case!

Instead, his system is to ascertain what colonel, for example, is supervising the piece of work he is interested in, and calling the latter up on the phone, inquire abruptly, "Say, colonel, what about so-and-so?"
This immediately places the colonel on a "hot spot." He must tell Ickes, and tell him forthwith, what Ickes wants to know, since Ickes is right there, at the other end of the line, in person, insisting on facts, all the facts, and nothing but facts—and the colonel cannot very well "sass" a cabinet member.
Oh, Ickes gets results by his method. But my!—does it make him unpopular!

Martin Insull's Appeal Refused

Former Utilities Magnate May Appeal To Appellate Court In Ontario
(International News Service)
TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 15.—Justice Garrow today disallowed the appeal of Martin Insull, former Chicago public utilities magnate and brother of Samuel Insull, against extradition to Illinois as ordered at a former trial by Justice Kingstone. Insull is wanted for trial in Illinois in connection with the failure of Insull properties.
J. C. McCruer, counsel for Insull, announced that his client probably would launch a final appeal against extradition to the appellate court of Ontario.

COLDS Go Thru 3 Stages

—and They're Far Easier Relieved in the First than in the Second or Third!
A cold ordinarily goes through 3 stages: the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. The first stage is the time to "nail" a cold.
Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is the treatment for colds. It is expressly a cold remedy and not a preparation good for half a dozen other things as well. It is direct and internal which is what a cold, an internal infection, requires. It is also complete—it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is inviting trouble. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any drugstore, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and refuse a substitute.

New Castle Institutions See Sharp Improvement In Local Deposits

Deposits in every bank now open in Pennsylvania are now guaranteed by deposit insurance, according to announcement from Washington.

Pennsylvania is the first state in the union to have this 100 per cent guarantee record for money in deposit in open banks.

As a result of the new law, which insures all deposits up to $2,500 cash in rolling into New Castle banks in increasing amounts. Federal authorities believe that the re-depositing of cash which has been hidden away will go far toward restoring better conditions.

Economists have always held that each dollar in circulation gives ten times that amount in credit, and the same economists contend that the principal need is for faster credit.

National banks and state banks, which are members of the Federal Reserve system, came under the deposit insurance automatically and each of the 174 state-supervised banks, not members of the reserve, have also qualified.

New Castle bankers say that no particularly large deposits have been made since the insurance went into effect, but that every day larger totals of currency have been placed to the credit of depositors. It is believed that local conditions will be greatly benefited.

DEBATING TEAM WINS FRIDAY

The Bessemer High School debating team successfully upheld the negative side of the question, Resolved: That the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control, in a debate with Enon Valley High school, held at Bessemer during the Friday afternoon assembly hour. Miss Fell, faculty sponsor of the club, led devotionals and introduced the speakers for the afternoon. Bessemer's debaters were: Dorothy Houlette, Madolyn Kelley and Leonard Wolfe, with Harry Shoup and Henry Throop as timekeepers. Mr. Metzger, principal of Lowellville high school, judged the debate.

This is the third debate that the Bessemer team has been active in; on Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 the negative team debated with East high school of Youngstown in a non-decision debate held in the study hall; on Wednesday after school the affirmative team composed of Kenneth Young, Nellie Yeropoli and Donna Gilmore went to East high school and debated there. Later a return debate with Enon Valley will be arranged and perhaps one with Union high school.

The problems of race, nationality, delinquency, honesty, teacher-pupil attitude and general question relating to individuals were discussed, with all teachers giving their ideas and suggestions. Refreshments were served before the meeting.

Board Takes No Action On Bids At Meeting On Saturday Night

So many bids were received Saturday night by the New Castle School board for paint and roofing materials, that it was impossible to get the bids opened, and compared before midnight. After opening the bids the board adjourned to meet again in special session when the bids are assembled in such shape that the best bids can be selected. The special meeting will probably be called for Wednesday.

About 30 sales representatives met with the board Saturday night when the special meeting opened. Among the materials needed are four hundred gallons of paint, 61 tons of roofing asphalt, insulation to go under the roofing, shingles or composition roof covering and other materials.

The necessity for the materials arose when the board decided to make extensive repairs under the CWA program. The roof on the Senior High School and the Benjamin Franklin Junior High school are to be replaced, and the slate roof on the North Street building.

The bids looked like a Christmas mail collection. Local dealers, manufacturers, jobbers and others were represented and the bids were so detailed that it took some time to read each.

Organizations Attend Mass

Notable Program Is Observed At St. Vitus Church On Sunday Morning

ST. VITUS KNIGHTS HEAR ADDRESSES

Sunday morning at the 8:00 o'clock mass, for the first time in the history of the St. Vitus church, three organizations, composed of members of the parish, received Holy Communion in a body. Following mass, the Knights of St. Vitus Auxiliary and the Holy Name Society, were the guests of the Knights of St. Vitus at a delicious breakfast which was served in the basement of the church, to 300 or more persons.

The three organizations congregated in the basement of the church prior to the 8:00 o'clock mass, and then attended mass in a body. During mass, the clubs received Holy Communion. The gathering then enjoyed a delicious breakfast prepared by Andy Venditto and Jake A. DeFonso and served by a group of girls, members of the parish.

Following breakfast, the program got underway as Carm Sacco, past president of the Knights of St. Vitus, made a few remarks and then introduced Vito Conti, 1934 president of the organization. Mr. Conti, turned the program over to the toastmaster, Attorney Joseph Leta, Jr.

Rev. Nicholas DeMita, pastor of the church was the opening speaker of the program. He congratulated the societies. Francis Augustine, chairman of the program, told about the different social functions of the year which will be conducted by the Knights of St. Vitus.

Miss Catherine Augustine, president of the Auxiliary, in her address, thanked the Knights of St. Vitus for the invitation to attend the breakfast and promised the support of the organization she heads.

The following made a few remarks: D. T. Valensi, Anthony Bullano, Dr. Warren V. Massaro, Anthony Villani, P. P. Capitola. The different officials of the Knights of St. Vitus were then introduced. Pat Colucci, of Hillsville, complimented the organizations and wished them more success.

Attorney Carmen V. Marinaro, of Butler stressed the fact that great men of the world look up to the Divine Saviour, in his address. He named President Roosevelt as an example. He stated that recently, President Roosevelt made the statement that religion is a thing to be proud of.

Thomas Planagan, Grand Knight, of the Knights of Columbus, in his speech, stressed Catholic action. "So let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father Who is in Heaven." This is a Catholic formula. Mr. Planagan presented.

Rev. Fr. Victor, of the St. Fidels Seminary, in Heron, Pa., was the final speaker of the morning. He thanked the Knights of St. Vitus for their support during the recent crisis of the seminary. Rev. Victor was the celebrant of the mass which the three organizations attended.

I WANT EVERY SUFFERER FROM STOMACH TROUBLE TO SEE ME

My Marvelous New Remedy Vendol Will Relieve Indigestion Quickly And Not Leave A Trace. Also, Overcomes Constipation

Since establishing my headquarters a few days ago at the New Castle Drug Co., I have come into contact with many local people, both men and women, who have suffered from some form of indigestion.

To those of you reading this who may also be suffering from this very common ailment, I want to impress upon you very forcibly, and with no fear that I will be contradicted, that my tonic Vendol is without doubt the most effective remedy on the market today for gas in the stomach, acidity, disordered digestion or weak stomach.

Of the vital organs in the human body none are more important than the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. They are so closely allied that when one is weakened the others become affected. Owing to the combination of drugs in Vendol, it acts on all these organs and brings relief so quickly it often surprised the sufferer.

If you have suffered from indigestion, if gas has made you uncomfortable and pressed against your heart, if you have belched up hot, sour liquids that made your throat raw, if you have lost your appetite and just have a disgust at the sight of food, you are the one who should come to see me and a week's treatment of my Vendol will change all this, I promise.

I have the record of hundreds of cases, many of them stubborn, store,

Irishman Rounding Out 100 Years Of Life, Wants To Go Back To Ireland

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 15.—A good glass of beer or a drink of whisky instead of a smoke is the recommendation of John McNicholas who today started rounding out a century of life, to those desiring longevity.

While at this ripe old age, the swarthy little Irishman enjoys a pipeful of tobacco. "I didn't smoke in my younger days," he explains. He believes smoking is not the best thing for youths.

McNicholas' one ambition on this earth is to once tread on his native soil of Erin. And if he survives until this time next year John hopes to return to the Ireland he abandoned in 1861.

Mercy Murder Of Son, Confessed

SHARON, Jan. 15.—County officers and state and city police are investigating the confession of Mrs. Mary Zitznar, 28, wife of John Zitznar, Budd street, who appeared at the city police station and informed Captain David Miller that she killed her two year old son, Rudolph on February 11, 1929. She was taken to the county jail.

According to the woman's statement, the child was a cripple, unable to walk or talk. Desiring to keep him from a life of misery, she strangled him with a handkerchief, the confession recites. She did not tell her husband until recently. He advised her to give herself up, but she delayed until her conscience caused her to report the crime.

The more Mr. Johnson doesn't crack down, the more reason to hope he won't crack up.

I am daily at the New Castle Drug Company, 31 East Washington St., and will gladly tell you more about this medicine than I can print here. So come today, if possible, and learn how Vendol can help you. Vendol is also sold at the 24 Mill Street

Beer Sales In State Increase

Legalizing Of Liquor Has Tended To Increase Beer Sales; Is Shown By Survey

LIQUOR LICENSES ARE TOO HIGH

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—Six weeks of high prices for liquor and scarcity at even this expensive tariff has shattered the long anticipated "bonanza" of the by-the-drink liquor business if figures in the state department of revenue are any indication.

Of 22,000 beer retailers in the state when legal liquor came back more than 13,000 signified their intention of applying for the right to dispense alcoholic beverages. Up to today, only 6,282 establishments have made applications and only 5,680 have licenses.

Thus approximately one-fourth of the state's taprooms can sell the more potent drink. The rush is over, so that present figures tend to indicate a fair criterion of the sentiment.

Licenses Too High.

Going back to the scene for an answer, beer room proprietors admit they have decided it is "smart business" to stay out of the liquor trade. With the boost in alcoholic content of malt beverages, beer sales have increased by leaps and bounds. December sales of the high-powered malt drinks brought an increase of $100,000 over November in state taxes, and that in a cold month, usually bad for beer trade. Add to this the fact that liquor licenses take away the beer dispenser's privilege of serving even beer customers over a bar tending to jeopardize the malt trade, and the taproom proprietors say sale of the "hard stuff" presents an unprofitable venture.

Department of revenue officials hazard another answer to the unexpectedly low demand for liquor permits. They point out that the price of the liquor license—twice that of a beer license—permits sale of malt beverages without additional fee.

All beer licenses run until next June or thereabouts so that purchase of a liquor license now also carries with it the privilege of selling beer for five or six months during which permission to sell malt drinks already has been bought.

City Controller Is Given Farewell

Fellow-Workers At New Castle Works Present Wimer With Gifts

City Controller Earl C. Wimer was honored by his former fellow-workers at the New Castle Works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, which plant he left after 26 years of continued faithful service to assume his new duties with the city, when they invited him to the plant Friday and presented him with several attractive gifts.

On his left wrist, he wears a handsome wrist watch, which will remind him of the esteem and affection held for him by the foremen and office men of the New Castle Works, every time he glances at the piece. In addition, he was given a set of golf clubs.

The boys at the works evidently felt that he would have a little more time for recreation now and meant that he shall mix a little pleasure with business.

Wimer promised them, however, that he expected to make a real job of the city controllership, and would not mix pleasure with business too much. "When my day's work is done, I may get out to the golf course, but I intend to see that the city gets value received for the money it pays me," Wimer said today in commenting on the gifts.

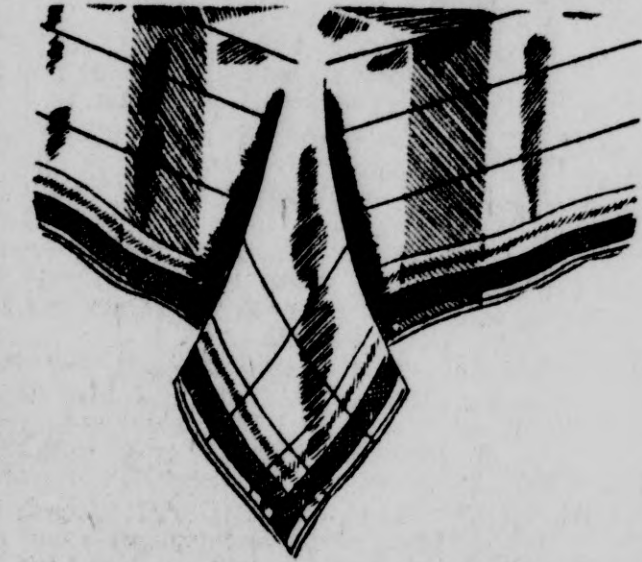

The presentation was made in an informal manner when he went to the plant Friday at the invitation of his former fellow-workers.

SAN MARTIN RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT OF CUBA

Successor Is Being Debated

Revolutionary Junta Is Unable As Yet To Agree On New President

JUNTA ADJOURNS AMID DISCORD

By RICHARD ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HAVANA, Jan. 15.—The four-months rule of President Ramon Grau San Martin virtually ended today as the original revolutionary Junta of Nineteen, having received his resignation, debated the choice of a successor.

The resignation, submitted last night, was to become effective as soon as the Cuban political leaders could decide upon and elect a new provisional chief executive.

The Junta met in a closely guarded, secret session at Camp Columbia until 4 a. m., and having failed to agree on President Grau's successor, adjourned until 10:30 a. m.

Clash Is Revealed
Despite the intense secrecy surrounding the proceedings, it was learned the situation boiled down to a clash between Col. Fulgencio Batista, commander-in-chief of the army, and Antonio Guitierrez, secretary of the interior who has the backing of the navy.

Col. Batista's choice for the presidency was the veteran nationalist leader, Col. Carlos Mendieta. Guitierrez' choice was secretary of agriculture Col. Carlos Hevia.

In addition, many were said to favor Guitierrez himself.

After the Junta meeting adjourned in discord, Guitierrez announced he was willing to abide by a majority decision of the group if the army leaders would agree to the same thing. Neither Col. Batista nor his aides publicly announced they would enter such a pact.

Some quarters were apprehensive regarding the crisis, fearing a clash between the army and navy.

Rudy Vallee Is Enroute East To Fulfill Contract

Opinions Differ As To Sudden Departure Of Crooner From California

FAY WEBB OFFERED $3,000 CONTRACT

(International News Service) HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15.—When Rudy Vallee, radio crooner, departed suddenly for New York, he went alone, Fox film studio officials said today.

And as Vallee sped eastward after a quick "getaway" from Hollywood when process servers tried to tag him, a report that Alice Faye, featured singer with Vallee's orchestra, had accompanied him, was denied at the studio and at Miss Faye's home.

Vallee forsook his duties as master of ceremonies at the screen actors' guild ball Saturday night and boarded an airplane for Needles, Cal., where he took the Santa Fe Chief for New York.

The process servers Vallee eluded were seeking to restrain him from leaving California before hearing of the separate maintenance suit filed by his pretty dark eyed wife, Fay Webb Vallee in which she named Miss Faye and asked for temporary allowance of $7400 a month.

H. M. Fleming, process server, explained they sought to serve a subpoena on Vallee to give a deposition to be used in Mrs. Vallee's action.

Fay Gets Offer Vallee's attorney, S. S. Zagon, declared however that Vallee had gone to New York to fulfill a radio contract, and that Mrs. Vallee's suit had nothing to do with his sudden departure.

Meanwhile in Santa Monica, Police Chief Clarence E. Webb, Fay's father, was excited over an offer of $3,000 a week for Fay to appear in the Club Richmond in New York. The offer was made by Aaron Schwartz.

Reitz Serving Jail Sentence

Jefferson County Treasurer Goes To Jail For Contempt Of Court

REFUSES TO GIVE UP HIS OFFICE

(International News Service) BROOKVILLE, Pa., Jan. 15.—Sentenced to serve five days in jail for contempt of court following his refusal to comply with a court order to vacate the office of county treasurer, Richard E. Reitz today continued his term in Jefferson county jail here.

Meanwhile, as Reitz failed to turn over his keys to the office in the courthouse, carpenters prepared to saw open doors and install new locks today.

Reitz has steadfastly refused to divulge the combination of the vault of the treasurer's office. A locksmith will probably be called from New York to open it. All funds of the county are tied up and bankers are expressing belief that a court order will have to be made in behalf of Reitz or Harvey G. Bowers, his successor, before they can legally cash county checks.

Reitz refused to turn his office over to Bowers on the ground the latter had failed to provide bond by January 1.

State Farm Show Now In Progress

Annual Week's Program Is Started At Harrisburg—10,000 Exhibits

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—Pennsylvania's annual bucolic extravaganza, the state farm show, opened here today for a five-day run with its success already assured.

Some 10,000 exhibits, more than $30,000 in prize money, and the scores of contests embracing competition in such widely divergent fields as swine raising, dramatics and horse and poultry raising are expected to bring at least 500,000 visitors to the show.

The formal opening will be held tonight when Marvin Jones, chairman of the agricultural committee of the United States House of Representatives will deliver an address.

Show officials said there are more exhibits this year than ever before. Improvements to the buildings and grounds are numerous and were completed in time for the show opening by CWA workers.

A dozen or more agricultural organizations are holding conventions in conjunction with the show.

PRESIDENT SENDS "GOLD" MESSAGE TO CONGRESSMEN

was $34.06, which is almost equivalent to a 60-cent dollar.

The estimated profit to the treasury in this operation, based upon a $300,000, would be approximately $2,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt reminded the congress that under the existing law (the Thomas amendment) he has the power, by executive act, to devalue the dollar down to 50 per cent of its gold content, but the important, he said, prompted him to ask that congress make the authority specific rather than permissive.

Time For Action.

"With the establishment of this permanent policy, placing all monetary gold in the ownership of the government as a bullion base for the currency," he said, "the time has come for a more certain determination of the gold value of the American dollar."

"Because of world uncertainties, I do not believe it desirable in the public interest that an exact value be now fixed. The president is authorized by present legislation to fix the gold value of the permissible revaluation at 50 per cent."

"Careful study leads me to believe that any revaluation at more than 60 per cent of the present statutory value would not be in the public interest. I, therefore, recommend to the congress that it fix the upper limit of permissible revaluation at 60 per cent."

"That we may be further prepared to bring about a greater degree of stability to foreign exchanges rate in the interests of our people, there should be added to the present power of the secretary of the treasury to buy and sell gold at home and abroad, express power to deal in foreign exchange as such. As a part of this power I suggest that, out of the profits of my department, there should be set up a fund of two billion dollars for such purchases and sales of gold, foreign exchange and government securities as the regulation of the currency, the maintenance of the credit of the government, and the general welfare of the United States may require."

Keep Gold In Bullion.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was the intention to keep the impounded gold in bullion form in the treasury. Circulation of gold coins, he held, is unnecessary and leads to hoarding, and to weakening of the federal financial structure in times of emergency. The only real necessity for transfer of gold from one individual to another, or from one country to another, he said, was for settlement of international balances.

The president made no specific recommendation regarding the increased use of silver as a monetary basis. He reminded congress that the silver agreement reached in London last summer was now in process trial, and that if it works out satisfactorily "there will be a marked increase in the use and value of silver."

"Governments can well," he continued, "as they have in the past, employ silver as a basis for currency, and I look for a greatly increased use."

"I am, however, with holding any recommendation to the congress looking to further extension of the monetary use of silver because I believe we should gain more knowledge of the results of the London agreement and of our other monetary measures."

Two Principles.

The president said he desired to stress two principles:

(1) That the national currency

"must be maintained as a sound currency, insofar as possible," and that it will have "a fairly constant standard of purchasing power."

(2) That the government has an "inherent right to issue currency and be the sole custodian and owner of the base or reserve of precious metals underlying the currency."

There was a hint in the message that Mr. Roosevelt is possibly anticipating some world move for a better distribution of gold stocks. At one point he said:

"The title to all gold being in the government, the total stock will serve as a permanent and fixed metallic reserve which will change in amount only so far as necessary for the settlement of international balances or as may be required by a future agreement among the nations of the world for a redistribution of the world stock of monetary gold."

Stabilization Fund.

The additional powers asked for the secretary of the treasury to buy and sell gold, deal in foreign exchange and government securities, through the two billion dollar fund set up, contemplates a device virtually parallel to the British stabilization fund.

The British have operated the fund to send the dollar and the franc and the pound up or down through extensive purchases, and always it has been operated for the benefit of the pound and British trade, as against the dollar and the franc.

Russia Willing To Enter League

Will Make No Move Until Recognized By Little Entente Nations

ENCOURAGED BY U. S. RECOGNITION

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Jan. 15.—Soviet Russia is willing to enter the League of Nations but will make no move until she is recognized by other European states, notably the Little Entente nations, International News Service learned today as the league council convened in Geneva.

Reports, believed to have been inspired, circulated shortly after the opening to the effect Russia was about to apply for membership. But reliable information stated that Russia had made European recognition a prerequisite.

Active diplomatic moves have been under way for weeks to bring Russia into the league, with France playing a leading part.

In frequent contact with Russian officials, French spokesmen have thrown the full weight of their influence into the argument, and a considerable softening of the Soviets' traditional antipathy to the league has been evident.

The Russians have taken the view, however, that they could hardly sit on the league council with other European states with the barrier of non-recognition between them. Encouraged by their diplomatic victory in securing American recognition, the Russians are apparently using league membership as a virtual bargaining point for resumption of diplomatic relations with the Central European countries.

French Aiding Move.

Realizing the state of the Russian mind, the French are doing all in their power to hasten recognition. France's great influence with the Little Entente Nations is believed responsible for the increasing flood of reports that Russian entry into the league is a matter of days or weeks.

French circles keenly interested in seeing the league, which has been seriously weakened by defection of Japan and Germany, bolstered by the membership of Soviet Russia have been hinted that the United States has "thrown its influence" toward effecting Russian membership as a move in behalf of Pacific peace.

In such an event, it was said, Japan would find it wiser to withdraw her resignation and again occupy her council seat.

Meanwhile, the Russians are playing a waiting hand, taking advantage of friendliness toward the league as an instrument of peace but not contemplating applying for membership for the present at least.

In addition to demanding general diplomatic recognition, Soviet Russia, it was learned from the Soviet embassy here, is anxious to know just how far Premier Mussolini of Italy intends to go in his proposed reformation of the league.

The Promise To Pay

The moral status of one who can pay and won't has never been adequately defined.

Suppose you drive into a filling station and tell the operator to fill your gas tank. The moment that he has replaced the cap you start your motor and dash away. In that case you are a thief.

But suppose you do not drive hastily away, but tell the operator to send you a bill on the first of the month.

The fact that you ordered the gasoline gave the operator reason to believe that you would pay. And he trusted you. When you charged it, again he trusted you. If, then, you do not pay at the appointed time, or thereafter, have you not defrauded him as certainly as though you had dashed away without a word.

If it is dishonest to seize a man's goods, is it more honest to let him wait 30 days to discover his loss?

Have You Faithfully Kept Your Promise to Pay?

Ruth Slated To Manage Yankees In 1935 Season

Report In New York Says Ruppert Will Give Ruth Managerial Post

MCCARTHY MUST PRODUCE WINNER

By GARRY SCHUMACHER International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Possibly it will represent a surrender today when Babe Ruth attaches his signature to a 1934 contract—a document that slashes his salary from $52,000 to $35,000.

But there are those who, having had time to study the circumstances, insist it will be a most unusual surrender that will make a tremendous victory a year hence.

They say that Colonel Jake Ruppert and the Babe came to more than a salary understanding about the Babe's future with the Yankees. And that understanding, they would have us believe, involves the elevation of the big fellow to the management of the Yankees in the event Joe McCarthy fails to bring the 1934 championship to the stadium.

Details Secret.

Needless to say, neither Ruppert nor Ruth will admit any such arrangement, but the circumstantial evidence available certainly does seem to bring it within the range of possibility.

Why, otherwise, would Babe have been in such a hurry to take a $17,000 "cut" and appear pleased at the prospect? He had nothing to lose by holding off—and as always, public opinion was strongly on his side.

In this connection it can also be recalled that the Yankee officials suddenly became cold to a proposition that would have installed the Babe as the manager of Cincinnati, after "off-the-record" conversations had indicated they were in some sympathy with the idea.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 15.—A severe blow in the abdomen from an excited basketball player during a game between Downingtown High and a team made up of Alumni players, resulted fatally for Referee William Douglas McAlpine who died in West Chester hospital last Friday.

McAlpine suffered severe pain after being struck a glancing blow by the elbow of one of the players, and it was thought at first that he was suffering with acute appendicitis, but after an examination it was found to be a ruptured bladder. Peritonitis developed and was followed by pneumonia which proved fatal. He was a graduate of Muhlenberg College.

Quiet Prevails In Hard Coal Area

New Union Starts Anthracite District Strike For Recognition

(International News Service) WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 15.—Quiet prevailed in the Wilkes-Barre and Scranton district today as the United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania began a strike for recognition.

More than 100 State troopers and about 40 special deputy sheriffs were massed along with the regular police agencies to maintain order as the Insurgent union began what its leaders described as a "fight to the finish."

Aligned with the operators in opposition to the United Anthracite Miners were the United Mine Workers of America, the older and larger union.

Little picketing in the city of Wilkes-Barre was noted as the strike got underway although the effectiveness of the strike could not be immediately ascertained.

Several collieries were closed as a safeguard against possible disorder.

Titans Play Two Contests During Week

Meet Waynesburg At Home Tuesday And Allegheny Away On Friday

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 15.—Westminster college basketball players face two opponents this week, one at home and one away. One contest is a Tri-State Conference affair, the second of the season for the Lawthermen.

Coach Frank Wolf's Waynesburg college five will invade the Titan camp on Tuesday night for a conference game of considerable importance. The Yellowjackets, with one of the fastest teams in the league, forced the Titans to the limit in two games last year, Westminster winning both by scant one-point margins.

Tuesday night's game should be another thrilling encounter, with such jacket stars as Currie, Janocik, Mancuso and McCracken proving dangerous every minute.

On Friday night the Titans journey to Meadville where the Allegheny college five will be met. Allegheny started the season slowly, but has improved rapidly since, defeating Grove City Friday night at Meadville. Westminster has always had difficulty playing the Methodists at Meadville, and Friday night's game should be no exception.

Next week games are booked for Tuesday and Wednesday night with Edinboro and Slippery Rock. First semester examinations start Thursday, so there will be no games until February 3.

New Castle Y Wins Mat Meet

Several hundred persons witnessed the New Castle Y wrestling team defeat W. & J. grapplers, 20 to 13, at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. The college mat artists took only two of eight matches. Eddie Myers, W. & J. fullback, who has turned wrestler, did not go on the mat, as he has a sprained ankle.

The best match of the night was won by Tony Gennock, who downed George Maxwell of W. & J. The local lad pinned Maxwell's shoulders to the mat after four minutes and 31 seconds of hard wrestling. He scored the fall with a body hold and half-Nelson.

The only matches W. & J. captured were the 175-pound and heavy-weight bouts. Phil Adams of the Y succumbed to Kosko and Paul Fabian lost to Joe Stringer. Saturday night's summaries:

Westminster Takes Victory

Slippery Rock Teachers Defeated 45-20 At New Wilmington

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 15.—Westminster defeated the Slippery Rock State Teachers college five here Saturday night by a 45 to 20 score.

While the Teachers played good ball in the opening minutes of the game, the score might have been much higher for the Titans had not Coach John Lawther experimented thru-out the contest with many lineup arrangements.

Westminster used 12 players, all of whom were in the game two or three different times. Coach Thompson of the Teachers used 13 players.

Wes Bennett, Ray Sweeney and Captain Bill Douglas were the leading scorers for the Titans with 13, 12 and 10 points. Nick Uram led the Teachers with four points and played a fine floor game.

A feature of the Titan defense was the fact that the Teachers were allowed only three field goals, all of which were scored in the first half. Fourteen out of 20 fouls gave Slippery Rock most of its points.

At the start of the contest and for the first 10 minutes the score was tied four times, at 2-2, 3-3, 5-5 and 7-7. Slippery Rock was out ahead 2-0 at the start and was in the lead 3-2, 4-3, 5-3, 5-4, 6-5 and 8-7, but the Titans took the lead at 9-8 and tallied 15 points to make the count 24-8 before Slippery Rock again scored.

Tad Jones To Consider Post As Yale Coach

Former Well Known Yale Coach Will Give Answer In Few Days; Students Up In Arms

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 15.—With the alumni holding indignation meetings over his possible selection as head coach of Yale football, and Athletic Director Malcolm Farmer apparently refusing to consider anybody else, Tad Jones was approached today about his views on the delicate situation and he said: nothing.

He declined to discuss the matter in any way, being almost brusque in his refusal. But his friends were not so reticent.

They intimated rather broadly that the Yale club of New York and other alumni bodies were agitating themselves to no particular purpose; that Jones, if approached with a proposition, might refuse to take up the duties he laid down some years ago to turn his attention to business.

Jones, they said, was president of a million-dollar coal corporation here and would not have sufficient time to give to the job, especially since it is expected that Yale will ask its new coach to accept the assignment on a full-time basis.

Agenda Club To Play B. M. D. Team

Agenda club basketball team will go to Youngstown Wednesday night to play the fast B. M. D. team in a Jewish league game at the Youngstown Armory floor. The B. M. D. team last year went undefeated during the season and later won the Jewish championship of Ohio by playing in the Columbus, Ohio, tourney.

To date the Agendas have won one and lost none and the B. M. D. club has won two and lost none, so this game Wednesday is going to be an important one. Tonight the Agenda club will play the fast Polish Falcon team at the Falcon hall in a game that will set the Agendas in condition for the Youngstown battle.

The entire Agenda club will follow the team to Youngstown Wednesday night for the championship game.

Russia May Ask To Join League

(International News Service)
GENEVA, Jan. 15.—A report that Russia was about to apply for membership in the League of Nations spread in Geneva today as the League council convened for the opening of its 78th session.
Because of the absence of several leading key statesmen, due to illness and the press of their respective domestic affairs, no important decisions were expected for several days.
Arthur Henderson, president of the disarmament conference, was laid up with a cold. Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, was unable to be here today, and Joseph Paul-Boncour, was not due until Wednesday.
Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, presided over the session.

SWICK VOTES AGAINST "GAG"

Member Of Minority Group
Who Opposed Democratic
"Gag Rule" Move

By ARTHUR C. WIMER,
Special Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15.—Representative J. Howard Swick was a member of the minority group in the House of Representatives which persistently sought defeat or amendment of the economy bill last week.

Congressman Swick voted against a stringent gag rule when the gag was approved by only a five-vote margin. The gag prohibited amendment to the measure so as to restore veterans' benefits and federal wages.

Mr. Swick also voted for a motion to send the bill back to committee when such a proposal was rejected by a 240 to 141 ballot. The congressman in fact sought to make the motion. He got to his feet at the same time as Congressman Goss, Republican, arose to make the recommittal motion.

Both Swick and Goss are members of the appropriations committee. The speaker recognized Goss to make the recommittal motion, but Swick interrupted to protest that as a senior member of the committee it was his right to enter the motion. Speaker Rainey ruled that he had already recognized Goss, however, and Mr. Swick had to sit down.

North Beaver High News

VOCATIONAL NEWS

The sophomore girls are the objects of many jokes these days—they are making bread. Of course, there are some failures but mostly delicious cinnamon rolls Swedish tea rings, etc., have been turned out.

As an extra problem, the sophomore girls took up tie-dyeing. They have found this to be very interesting as well as colorful work.

For the last two weeks a group of junior and senior girls has served delicious dishes for a supplementary school lunch. They expect to do this for some time.

The girls of the freshman sewing class have begun their aprons for the coming cooking term. They are to be made of green broadcloth trimmed with tan. The headbands are to be made of tan also.

The vocational agriculture department is assisting the Pennsylvania federal-state crop reporting service. Fifty selected students have been asked to take an inventory of the various classes of livestock on their farm. Each have an inventory schedule which gives the names of animals of various ages and the number of each.

VOCATIONAL STUDENTS RANK HIGH IN STATE CONTEST

Robert Cvetan, a member of the junior class received word from the department of public instruction at Harrisburg regarding his awards. A silver medal will be awarded to Robert next Tuesday morning, Jan. 16, at 10 o'clock in the farm show building at Harrisburg. This young man won second place in the poultry project contest in the state. This type of project is one tried by many vocational students, and Robert may be proud of such a record. Raising 500 chicks is a real job for a boy and making a profit at it is better than many poultrymen are able to do today.

Donald Duff has also attained a place on the list of state project winners. His subject has been awarded 12th place in the long list of corn projects. Seven acres of corn is a good job to keep a boy busy. Donald does not get a medal since they are only given to the first ten in each contest.

This makes three winners in the state project contest from the North Beaver school. Wayne Walker received a medal last year for tenth place in the poultry project contest.

BASKETBALL NEWS

Tuesday evening Coach Spear's red and gray quintet showed a flashy offensive by downing a fighting Slippery Rock high team. As this is the first game for the Mt. Jackson boys since Thompson has been put in the pivot position, it looks bad for some opponents. Dick Thompson, Mt. Jackson's stellar captain, looked impressive by running up a total of 19 points. His brilliant work kept Mt. Jackson ahead during the entire game. The game was very rough but no injuries resulted.

Mt. Jackson lost a hard fought battle to the fast Union Crew Friday night on the Jackson floor. The game was a tough battle until the third quarter when Thompson was injured which slowed him up considerably and Union was able to forge ahead with a sufficient lead to throw in their reserves.

On Wednesday night, Jan. 17, another battle will be held when the Bessemer team comes down to Jackson for their annual struggle. Bessemer with a veteran team back is playing a good brand of ball, but Jackson will be in there fighting until the last whistle.

SOCIAL NOTES

A program of motion pictures of the world's fair will be given in the high school auditorium Friday evening, January 19. Other reels will be given also. Mr. McCullough will be in charge of the music for the entertainment.

Friday, January 26, the sophomores will present a program concerning the life and works of Victor Herbert.

The school has a small printing machine which Keith Hazen and Lyle Gibson have been using lately. They are now working on season tickets for the basketball games. They hope to finish soon. Keith Hazen had a course in printing in Ben Franklin school in New Castle.

NORTH BEAVER NOTES

Grace Houlette spent the weekend with Alice Parrott of Sunny-side.

The McConnell girls, Alice and Myrtle, who have been ill, are improving.

Miss McDowell attended the funeral services for her uncle, P. F. McDowell of Butler, last Friday afternoon.

The sophomore class regrets the loss of one of its members, William Hamill, who last week decided to quit school.

Elizabeth Knight, who started here as a freshman last fall, has moved back to New Castle. She moved on Monday, Jan. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Dickson were called unexpectedly to Elgin, Ill., because of the illness and death of Mr. Dickson's sister, Mrs. McCornack. They were gone for a week.

Kiwanis Will Hear Allen At Luncheon

Members of the city's Kiwanis will hear a brother Kiwanian, Lee F. Allen official of the Pennsylvania Engineering Works describe his recent business trip to England at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton on Wednesday, January 17.
